

I've...

By Talia Robbins

I've caught up on my sleep.

I've forgotten the days of the week.

I've stayed on top of homework,
Though a lot more still lurks.

I've played lots of basketball and some softball too.

As the warmer spring days come to an end,
and the scorching hot smile of summer begins,
when the godawful quarantine lifts,

I'll jump into the ocean and swim like a fish.

I've gone ahead of my learning and am now yearning

to finally go out again and hang with my friends
once this damn quarantine ends.
